THE FIRST LIE.

This Is Caught on the Fly and Nailed to the Counter-Social Callers at the White House and How They Are Received-Mr. Hendricks' Robustiousness-Hoosiers Returning Home.

Special to the Sentinel. WASHINGTON, May 16 .- In the story that Judge Gooding, at a private dinner party, threw himself on the outside of a tureen of soup, pouring a quantity of the fluid that was meant for three down his alimentary tank with a ladle, allows a Sentinel reporter to assure a palpitating public contains not one word of truth. It is an ancient fabrication, and was first used by Seward's Five Point managers against Lincoln in the Chicago Convention that gave him the nomination for President. It has since been brought into requisition to embarrass many other distinguished people. But if Gooding had swallowed soup for three, what's the odds? What has that to do with the election of a United States Senator? An elderly couple, natives of Massachusetts, returning from a winter in Florida, waited three days in the city to be introduced to the President. They were independent Republicans, the old gentleman having voted for Mr. Cleveland, and they wished to testify their approval of his administration. They were a pair of well-preserved, gray-haired, sweet-faced old citizens. Mr. Hilman made this case a specialty. The writer was present and the incident revealed more of the President's character than he had ever had the pleasure of seeing before. Mr. Cleveland mellowed up at once and the hard lines disappeared from his face. There is no question but that he derives the highest type of enjoyment from visits purely social. The evident satisfaction was contagious. In the presence of a meeting so agreeable, for a moment even the features of the esrnest-browed office-seeker relaxed, and the reception-room, if possible, was lighter. Mr. Hendricks spent the morning hour at the Capitol, then walked leisurely down Pennsylvania avenue, stopping frequently to talk about the

The streets of this city, as smooth as a ball-room floor, are green aisles leading, one might imagine, to a fairy land. Thronged by pedestrians in holidy attire the side-walks, like the show windows, are studded with every brilliant color of the rainbow. Fleecy cloudlets paint the sky, and the air is such as quickens all nature into life. Walking to Willsro's the Vice President ordered dinner, and within thirty minutes a table that in the beginn ng had groaned beneath the weight of a feast looked like a Kansas town struck by a cyclone.
This duty done he called a cab, and with a par y of constituents headed for the races. Returning to Willard's by 6 in the evening, his parlors were early filled, and at this hour all is as merry as a baby's laughter.

Washington is a difficult place to leave "When are are you going home?" is frequently asked.

"To-morrow," is the reply. These Washington to-morrows grow into weeks and months. This is the very center of the mining regions, and occasionally a fellow strikes a lead. There are more coming than there are going, and when they do go they come back on the next train. Voornees will be in Greenshurg Ind. be in Greensburg, Ind, next week attending court. In about a week Mr. Hendricks told me to-day, that he would go home for good. But many of the Hocsiers will linger here still.

Board is so cheap during the summer season at the Capitol that many of them will no doubt figure up a saving by going into quarters. This is a formation period of the Democratic party, and many will choose to stay on the ground and see it form. T. E. Johnson hopes, just a little expecting, to be struck by an Indian Agency. In the meantime he is having a heap of fun. JAP TURPIN.

AN EMBEZZLER

Arrested in Minneapolis for Defrauding a New York City Firm.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 16,-The large number of Minneapolitans who have known E. W. Goddard, of E. G. Barnaby's establishment, will be both startled and pained by the announcement that he was arrested in this city and left on the train forty-five minutes later for New York in charge of a detective. The accusation against Goddard is the embezzlement of $15,000, the crime having been committed a dozen years ago, when he was only seventeen years of age. Mr. Goddard has confessed his guilt in a letter written from Chica-go to Mrs. Barnaby, in which he says:

"For fear you may not thoroughly understand my sudden departure, I write you an explana-tion. I hate to think of the feeling you may have toward me, but there is no use of my crying over spilt milk. From 1870 to 1873 I was in the employ of Austin Corbin & Co., bankers in New York. Through a series of circumstances unnecessary to explain, but chiefly through a false friend. I embezzled about $15,000, and for twelve years I have been a fugitive from justice with a price upon my head. I write to you calmly, but my heart is broken and I have no hope for the future. I made a bad break and must suffer the penalty."

In 1874 young Goddard went to Memphis, and there met Mr. Barnaby, who gave him employment. He became a valuable attache of the house in that city and was rapidly advanced. During the reign of the yellow fever in 1878 he stuck to his post and refused to close the store, although his post and refused to close the store, although people were dying all around him and hundreds were deeing from the city. One year later Mr. Barnaby engaged in business in Minneapolis, and Goddard came with him, continuing in his former position. In 1883 an interest in the business was given him as a reward for his faithful services.

Mr. Barnaby says that for the past nine years Goddard has had almost complete control of the books, money and business. He has the fullest confidence in him, and that confidence was never abused in the slightest degree. Goddard's life here has been above reproach, both in his busisociety and was a general favorite wherever he went. ness and social relations. He moved in the best

Goddard was the son of J. W. Goddard, an old merchant of New York, who was in comfortable circumstances. In 1870 when he was fourteen years of age, he entered the employ of Austin Corbin & Co. of that city. He drifted into the society of young men who squandered money lavishly, and, to "keep up his end," he resorted to a crime which all his subsequent houesty could not atone for in the eyes of the law. Efforts are being made to ascertain if the payment of the amount embezzled will secure liberty and if this can be accomplished the money will be raised by his friends. W. S. Hamer left at noon to-day for New York to ascertain what could be done, and New York to ascertain what could be done, and Mr. Barnaby will follow later.

REIL CAPTURED.

The Rebel Leader Brought in by Three Scouts-The Rebellion Ended.

St. Paul, Minn , May 16 .- A Winnepeg special, received at 4 a. m., says: "Reil was captured today (Friday) at noon, three miles north of Battouche, by three scouts named Diepl, Thorne and Armstrong. He appeared unconcerned, but begged not to be shot. He was taken to General Middleton's headquarters. His followers are scattered and the rebellion is ended." Riel was brought in at 3:30 this afternoon, No demonstration was made. He walked quietly to the General's tent. A note which Riei gave the courier was a letter which General Middleton had sent him. He knew nothing of Dumont. Riel said he stayed on Tuesday and Wednesday nights in the bluffs one and a half miles north of Bat-of the scouts, but passing through them, his cap-tors brought him safely to camp. He said his wife and family were with the half-breed women near by. Riel is now being interviewed by General Middleton. When he saw the Gatting gun go down with the scouts at Battouche he was much alarmed on account of his family. Riel appears careworn and haggard. He has let his hair grow long, and dressed in poorer fashion than most of the palf-breeds captured. While talking to General Middleton, as well as could be seen from the outside of the tent, his eyes rolled from side to side with the look of a hunted man. He evidently was the most frightened man in camp, and in constant fear of violence at the hands of the soldiers. There is no danger of any such violence.

Riel, whilst riding into camp, expressed him-self to his captors as follows: "I do not think this trouble will be without result, as the complaints of the farmers will be regarded with some degree of attention." When told that his books and papers had been captured he said: "I am glad. This will show that I am not the actual leader of the rebellion. I have been encouraged by people of good standing at and around Prince Albert, who invited me over from Montana." He asked would they give him a fair trial, civil or martial. Armstrong told him he would be tried by martial law.

Riel drew a long breath but said nothing. He spoke again of not being head man of the rebellion, and made the sign of a cross. He asked whether his family would be blown up with that gun with the crowd (meaning the Gattling gun) and then he said he did not want to be selfish and hoped none of the half-breeds would suffer for his own family. In appearance he is a common half-breed, and looks very dilapidated. The capture of Riel will end the rebellion so far as the breeds are concerned. A band of Indians coming in from the West to-day to help Riel were met by half-breeds, who told them the war was over. Some of the prisoners were placed on board the boat to day. In parting from their families there were many pitiful scenes of women crying and holding up babies for father to kiss. Paper belonging to the Rebel Government were searched to day. The minutes showed that the Duck Lake fight was a premedi tated affair, and that the rebels were thoroughly cognizant of General Middleton's movements from the time we left Qu'Appelle Station, as numerous extracts from Toronto, Winnipeg and Montreal journals were also found referring to Riel; strength of General Middleton's command; of the quantity of ammunition and the amount of forage on which, according to the minutes, the movements of the rebels depend The report that Colonel Irwine was threatened by hostile Indians and Breed is now found to have been quite untrue. Intense indignation is explessed at his non-appearance.

Rejoicing at Toronto.

TORONTO, May 16 .- The news of Riel's capture was received here, this morning, and caused general rejoicing, it being felt that the rebellion will soon be terminated. The people are asking what will be done with Riel, where will he be of the papers are eagrely bought up.

WAS IC AN ACCIDENT?

A Wealthy Citizen Shot While Hunting a Negress to Whip Her.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 16.-At a late hour last night Colonel D. T. Marable, General Manager of the Birmingham Agricultural Works, was shot in a mysterious manner and may die. The cause of the shooting or in what manner it was done is not known, except as explained by gentlemen who were with him. A negro woman insulted a niece of Mr. George Morgan. He became so exasperated that he proceeded to give her a beating. He secured ropes, went to Colonel Marable and Marshal D. M. McCoy and asked them to see that it was well done. He told them he was going to tie up a negress and beat her like they used to in Virginia. The party started for the home of a negress. Virginia. The party started for the home of a negro well loaded with whisky. When Mr. McCoy joined the party he placed a cheap thirty-two calibre revolver in his coat pocket. After the party had gone as far as the house, Morgan started in at the front gate with a rope in his hand. He told the other three men to wait outside. McCoy and Marable attempted to jump over a ditch. It is claimed that the pistol fell out of the pocket of the former, struck the ground and was exploded, the ball entering the left shoulder of Mr. Marable The wounded man was taken to the Palace Royal saloon and a physician summoned who pro-nounced the wound daugerous, and decided not to extract the ball as it had lodged in the muscles of the shoulder-blade. The wounded man was taken home suffering much pain, and to-day it is a question of doubt as to his recovery. Colonel Marable is one of the most highly respected citizens in Birmingham. It is believed by many that he was shot in a duel with McCoy.

LYNCHED.

Chambers, the Train Robber, Reported Hung at Bloomington.

Louisville Post Special.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., May 16-3 p. m.-A telegram has just been received here stating that Chambers, the L., N. A. and C. train robber, was lynched at Bloomington, Ind., half an hour ago. The telegram says express envelopes were found at his house, and when this fact be-came known the crowd in town became excited. and, taking forcible possession of Chambers, hung

The search party returned from Chambers' father's farm at a late hour lest night, and reported having found $133 in cash in Chambers' room, and a pair of light-colored pants, soiled at the bottom and torn at the knees. The money had all passed through the Express Company's hands, as proven by needle punctures. There is no proof but thet he received i in a legitimate manner. Chambers secured his uncle, Chesley Woodward, and Mat Smedley on his bond before night, and at once left town for home. This morning the authorities sent Marshal Smith and deputies to secure affidavits of Chambers' family, and they were unable to find the accused man, but were told that he had gone to visit relatives in another part of the country. The officers believe that this is but a ruse, and that he has fled the country, but can do nothing unless his boudsmen take action in the matter. The attorneys for the defense state that they know of the whereabouts of the accused, and

A HORRIBLE DEATH.

While Out on a Mountain Excursion J. P. Cole Falls Down a Precipice and is Killed.

SPRING PLACE, Ga., May 16 .- Mr. J. P. Cole, of this place, met with a most horrible death last evening. He, in company with two or three others, were out on Cohutta Mountain in the vicinity of the Legal Tender mine, in which he was one of the owners. They were alongside of the mountain in the full glee of mountain adventurers, when Mr. Cole stepped on a rock which was made slick by a smal stream of water. His feet slipped from under him, and he went dashing wildly down over the rocky cliffs below. He disappeared almost in the twinkling of an eye. His companions, Dr. W. W. Anderson and Augustus Parker, made their descent around the precipice as quickly as possible, and found him lying unconscious, a distance of, perhaps, 150 or 200 feet below. His right thigh was broken, his head fearfully gashed by rocks, and other portions of his body were bruised. He was brought down the mountain on a litter and conveyed to his home in Spring Place in a wagou. He lingered in great agony until about 10 o'clock to-night. when he died. Mr. Cole was a leading merchant and a progressive and prosperous business man. He was thirty-five years of age and leaves a wife and two small children.

SEVEN HUNDRED POISONED.

A Large Party of Excursionists Made Dangerously Ill by Eating Ice Cream. ATLANTA, Ga., May 16 .- A party of 700 excursionists from here to Talmah Falls are said to have been poisoned while eating ice cream at a picnic this afternoon, Reports which reach here state that seventy persons are unconscious on the grounds. Many of them, it is said, will die. Many of the townspeople have relatives at the place. The nature of the poison is not known. Assistance has been sent to them, all the doctors within a radius of ten miles having flocked to the scene. Rumors as to the number of excursionists who are in danger vary greatly. There is intense excitement here over the reports, but only the above meagre details have been ascertained.

Shot and Killsd.

A Close Game at Philadelphia. PHILADELPHIA, May 16 .- The game to-day between the Philadelphia and Detroit clubs was witnessed by over 5,000 persons, who shouted themselves hoarse and went almost wild with excitement when the home club tied the game in the ninth inning and scored the winning run in the tents. The Detroits lost the game through the wild pitching of Getzien, who seemed to have no control whatever over the ball. In the sixth inning, after two men were out, he gave four batters their bases, and one run was scored without a hit being made. The side was then put out. leaving three men on bases. The runs scored by the Philadelphias in the third and fifth innings were also made by men who had been sent to first base on balls. The visitors opened on Ferguson in lively style. In the first inning Wood and Hanlon made safe singles, and Bennett followed with a hit over the left field fence for a home run. In he second inning a single and a two-bagger sielded two more runs for them, but in the remainder of the game they were unable to bunch their hits. The home club set the crowd shouting in the ninth inning by making four runs and tieing the game on four singles, a base on balas and a two-baser. In the tenth inning Manning made a hit, stole second and went to third on Andrews' sacrifice hit, and scored the winning | ply Salvation Oil, the great pain cure, to the run on Myers' low hard hit to Bennett, which the latter player fumbled. New York Won Eastly.

NEW YORK, May 16 -Fully 7,000 persons witnessed the fourth game between the Chicago and New York nines at the polo grounds to-day. Young Richardson pitched for the home club, and did excellent work. Corcoran was batted freely, and was wretchedly supported. Brilliant plays and errors were almost alike in frequency. The blunders of the Chicago men were most damaging. Thrice double plays caused loud applause, and lightning line catches by Ward and Gerhardt made the crowd yell with delight. Cushman's decisions gave better satisfaction than that of yesterday, but he was several times hissed. In the fifth inning the visitors got badly rattled, and made errors at an alarming rate. The New Yorks made six runs on four single hits. The Chicagos made two runs in the first inning on hits by Dal-rymple and Kelly and errors by Richardson and sterbrook. In the second inning Burns' threebagger and Gerhardt's error gave them another.

Omaha ... A Chinaman Murdered.

HELENA, Ark., May 16 -A story is told by some citizens of Friar's Point, which shows a terrible state of affairs in that village. The report is that about ten days ago an old Chinaman was beaten severely by two or three citizens and ordered to leave town, which he started to'd c, going to the wharfboat to wait for a boat. The self-authorized vigilants were not satisfied at this, however, and went to the wharf, caught the Chinaman, threw him into the river, and on his failing to drown as quickly as they desired, shot him to death. The perpetrators of the murder claim that the Chinaman assaulted a young white girl, the daughter of one of the lynchers, but other citizens say he meant no harm to the girl, and did nothing to alarm her, only putting his hand on her for to attract her attention. The names of the parties con-nected with the affair can not be ascertained, but they are prominent citizens. The body of the Chinaman has been found and some of his slay ers arrested. The twn is said to be divided into two factions, one desiring to shield the criminals, and the other endeavoring to have the law en-

Important Decision.

MUSCATINE, Iowa, May 16 .- The Muscatine Daily Journal publishes this evening the full text of an important decision bearing on an injunction procceding under the State prohibitory law, rendered by Judge French, of the Circuit Court, to-day. Judge French holds that the first injunction proceeding instituted against a saloon has priority to any other injunction proceedings against the sme saloon. This is regarded as a great victory for the saloons, as sham injunction proceedings have been instituted by friends of the saloons against nearly every saloon in Muscatine. The Temperance Alliance will appeal the case to the Supreme Court.
